EDITORIAL

Friends of the Numismatic World, it looks like summer is here to stay. Many of us will be out vacationing and our coin activities will be sadly neglected, except for our ardent collectors. We sincerely hope that you will have a wonderful time, and that we will hear from you again, so let's keep alert on those summer yards. Remember these tips while swimming and we shall hear from you again.

1. Don't swim alone
2. Don't over eat or drink
3. Don't stay in water too long
4. Keep your seat in the boat
5. Severe Sunburn is dangerous

We have reached over 2,000 collectors from Maine to California, and Washington to Florida on our 3rd edition. We have over a hundred subscribers already and many more are joining us daily. Collectors and dealers, we sincerely hope that you are enjoying our coin publication enough to subscribe or send in some small advertisement. This coin publication is printed for the interest of coin collectors and dealers. If you wish to see an attractive coin publication succeed, support it NOW! We hope to see your name in our publication soon.

One of our subscribers has named our coin publication, and now we hope that the collectors and dealers will help us set up a standard grading system to be used as guide in selling, buying or trading coins satisfactory. So let's keep the ball rolling and let's send in what you consider proper grading on any coin. In the meantime, don't let your friends down, by keeping coins that are not properly graded. Send them back immediately. If the sender gets the coins back enough times, he will consider changing the grading of that coin, or he won't be able to sell it.

Collectors! This is your coin publication, send in your letter on what you would like to see printed.

The "FLYING EAGLET" it is!

We have received many letters suggesting that the common words, such as coins and numismatics, be omitted from the title of our new coin publication, which was a difficult task, since over 1,000 interesting names were submitted. This was a superb idea and thanks to Mr. John M. Vogl, 102 Church Road, Elkins Park, Pa., we have succeeded. The "FLYING EAGLET", which meets our scheme to leave out the words, coins and numismatics, and associates the title, with one of our most interesting coins, the "Flying Eagle", (our first small cent) and one of the finest coin publications in the numismatic field.

In our next edition we will meet our collector friend Mr. John M. Vogl, who will tell us a little about himself and how he happened to think of the name "FLYING EAGLET."

We sincerely wish to thank all of our friends, who have participated in this Name Contest. It's not possible to please everyone on the best title, although we hope that you agree that we have picked a suitable name for our coin publication.

The "FLYING EAGLET" will have a different meaning to each of you, that friends know, this publication is printed for the interest of the coin collector, and aid in trading, buying, and selling coins, fairly and satisfactorily.

All letters of comments, suggestions about the title or the paper in general are welcome.

Will be looking forward to hearing from you. So for now, see you next month.

"FREAK COINS"

New collectors of freak coins will find it more difficult to obtain late freak coins because the Federal Reserve Banks are now wrapping the coins instead of your favorite bank. With this change of procedure, less freak coins will get into circulation, since the Federal Reserve Banks find them first and return them to the mint. Therefore the late freak coins will become very scarce to the collectors and of course increase in value.

The only coins that will be overlooked by the Federal Reserve Bank are the off-metal, blank, and clip Planchets. The off-metal coins are scarce and will always sell at a good price. We can expect to find off metal coins, as long as the United States mints strike coins for foreign countries.

AN INTERESTING OLD PRICE LIST

Recently there came into my office a price list of the Scott Stamp & Coin Company, Limited. The old address was 12 East 23rd Street, New York City. The pamphlet advertised "Coins, Medals and Postage Stamps For Collections." It was dated April, 1890 and it stated that all previous lists were cancelled! After looking over the cheap sets of copper coins of the world, I turned to the United States listings. What an opportunity it would be if one could be transported back in front of Scott's store for an hour or so during April, 1890!

The U.S. offerings included:—

6 Colonial Cents, New Jersey, Conn., etc., 1785-88	$1.00
6 Half-cents50
20 Half-cents	2.00
5 Liberty cents prior to 180845
40 Large cents, 1794-1857	1.50
5 Liberty-head quarters, prior to 1831	2.00
10 Hard Times Tokens60
8 Continental and Colonial Bills, before and during the revolution 1.00 Set of Confederate money, 50c to $100. (face $188.50)40

Compare the prices of today for similar offers! One can dream, can't one? And today, as the coin collector looks over the stocks of the different dealers, there are just as many opportunities to pick up worthwhile material as above. Let's not overlook the 50c commemorative coins and the "S" mint markings.

MONEY FOR NOTHING

Who remembers when, in 1917 when the United States entered the first World War, Harry Houdini, master magician, initiated a program called "Money For Nothing." Seemingly he plucked coins from the air. Houdini added his super-dramatic touch - beginning with half-dollars, he soon filled a gold fish bowl with them. Then going down into the audience, he began materializing $5 gold pieces which he tossed to the soldiers. When the war was over Houdini had given away $7000. Single-handed he had sold over $1,000,000. worth of Liberty Bonds.

In case anyone has a remembrance one of these half dollars in Bright Uncirculated condition, mint marked on the face 1917 S, it now catalogues for $40.00. Or a 1916 S five dollar gold piece, which was the last year for the $5 gold piece until 1929, it catalogues for $35.00. These are some of the coins he gave then to our soldiers as keepsakes. Today they have without magic increased many times in their value. Do you happen to have one.
